

SELECT SITE FOR NEW LAW BUILDING

Board of Visitors of University
Fix Location for Structure to Be Erected.

NEW MEMBERS OF FACULTY

Dr. Marshall, Professor Hancock and Mr. Kepner Chosen—Debate for Visitors' Medal.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., June 15.—The program for this day in the commencement exercises at the University of Virginia was not crowded with events. The board of visitors met in annual session this morning. This evening the annual debate for the board of visitors' medal took place in Madison Hall.

The members attending the meeting of the board of visitors were: Armistead C. Gordon, of Staunton; Daniel Hannon, of Charlottesville; John W. Graddock, of Lynchburg; H. T. Irvine, of Big Stone Gap; William H. White, of Norfolk; George S. Shackelford, of Orange; Dr. W. F. Drewry, of Petersburg; and Judge J. K. M. Norton, of Alexandria. The site of the proposed new law building was selected. It is to be the north building of a new quadrangle to be located on the south side of the main walk leading from the post-office to Wash Hall, and is to face northward. This position was decided upon at the suggestion of Warren H. Manning, of Boston, a leading college landscape architect, who has spent several days at the university studying the situation. The building will cost about $70,000, and work will begin just as soon as the architect's plans are ready.

New Members of Faculty.
Dr. Harry Taylor Marshall, son of Colonel Charles Marshall of Baltimore, a member of General Lee's staff, was elected professor of pathology in place of Dr. Charles H. Huntington, who has been called to a clinic in his native state, the university of Wisconsin. Dr. Marshall holds the degrees of bachelor of arts and doctor of medicine from Johns Hopkins University. He is also professor of pathology and bacteriology in the Philippine Medical School, Manila.

Professor Charles Hancock, of the Mississippi Agricultural College, was elected adjunct professor of mechanical engineering, to succeed Charles A. McKersie, who has been called to a chair at McGill University. Mr. Hancock is a graduate of the Miller Manual Labor School, and of the department of argument of the University of this university. He has served here as an assistant in the engineering department, and afterwards taught in Clemson College.

William Allison Kepner, formerly instructor in biology, was elected adjunct professor of that subject. Mr. Kepner is among the Ph. D.'s of this session.

Debate for Medal.
The subject for the debate to-night for the board of visitors' medal was: "Resolved, That the last Congress should have made a more liberal provision for an increase of the salary of the contestants were Mr. Thomas Slater Settle, of Flint Hill, Va., in the affirmative, and Mr. S. Clay Williams, of Mooreville, N. C., in the negative. Dr. Thomas Dr. Thomas Walker Page, professor Raleigh C. Minor, of the Page, awarded the prize to Mr. Williams.

The contest was presided over by Mr. Herbert Massey Peck, of Wisconsin, president of the Jefferson Literary Society.

Literary Awards.
After the debate the various literary awards were announced, as follows: The Colonial Dames' prize, offered by the Richmond Chapter, to Mr. Robert Edward Lee Stiller, of Lee Town, Va., his subject being "Woman in Colonial Virginia." The prize was won by B. W. Green, Mr. John D. Van Horne and Mr. Thomas J. Michie.

The Linden Kent prize, offered by the Linden Kent Memorial School of English Literature, for the best biographical and critical essay on an unexploited Virginia author, to Mr. W. R. Myers, of Bridgewater, Va., for his essay on "A. S. Kieffer."

The University of Virginia Magazine medals were awarded as follows: For the best short story, to Mr. J. R. Irvine, of Cheyenne, Wyo., for one of his "Brink of Dawn" stories.

The judges were Virginia alumni in the University of Tennessee.

For the best essay, to Mr. James C. Bardin, of Charlottesville.

For the best poem, Mr. James C. Bardin, of Charlottesville. The judges of essays were Virginia alumni in the University of Missouri. Mr. Bardin got first, second and third places. The judges of the poems were Virginia alumni in William and Mary College.

The Edward Thompson company prize, for the best law thesis, was won by Mr. W. K. Jackson, of Jacksonville, Fla., for his essay, "The Scope and Effect of Virginia Sunday Laws." The prize consists of a set of the second edition of the American and English Encyclopedia of Law (thirty-two volumes), of estimated value of $240.

LYNCHBURG HIGH SCHOOL.

Address by Rev. Dr. Jones—Barboursque on the Sea.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
LYNCHBURG, VA., June 15.—The commencement of the High School of Lynchburg, which has been the program of excellent interest. Dr. Carter Helm Jones addressed the large graduating class and W. M. Blaine, principal of the school, delivered the diplomas.

The class gave a barbecue on the Virginia State, in which a number of good and funny local hits were made.

FINALS ARE WELL UNDER WAY

Baccalaureate Sermon, Battalion Drill, Dress Parade and Literary Celebration.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
BLACKSBURG, VA., June 15.—President Francis P. Venable, of the University of North Carolina, addressed the literary societies of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute in the commencement hall this morning. Mr. J. C. Mitchell, of the Lee Society, introduced the speaker, who was heard by a large audience, including the board of visitors of the institute, the faculty and the student body.

Dr. Venable spoke on the responsibility of the college-bred man, with special reference to the opportunities that are open to the graduates of colleges and universities in the South at this time. He drew a striking contrast between the South of forty years ago, when it was devastated by the tragedy of war, and now, with its bountiful harvest, multiplying factories and rising cities. He pointed out some of the dangers that lie in this great access of wealth and prosperity, and emphasized the fact that the real aim of education is to learn the truth and teach it, and to become master of one's self. The address was replete with choice language and illustrations of the points brought out by the speaker in his effort to show that the chief object of the college boy should be not to learn how to get the most out of life, but how to put the most into it.

Other events of the day were a battalion drill and dress parade at 5 o'clock in honor of the board of visitors, who met here to-morrow morning, and the annual celebration of the Lee Literary Society this evening.

Governor and Mrs. Swanton will arrive at 3 o'clock to-morrow, and will be met at the depot by the corps of cadets. A salute of seventeen guns will be fired in the Governor's honor. He will also witness the same battle in the afternoon, and be the guest of honor at the alumni.

Baccalaureate Sermon.
Rev. Joseph Bragg Dunn, of Suffolk, Va., preached the annual sermon to the graduating class of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute in the auditorium Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. On the rostrum with the speaker were the president of the institute, Dr. Paul B. Barringer, the chaplains of the college and the choir. In the audience, which taxed the seating capacity of the large building, were the young men who are to receive their degrees next Wednesday, the student body, people of the community and hundreds of commencement visitors from all parts of the State.

Dr. Dunn chose as his subject the 11th Psalm, with special reference to the verse, "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom," and from this text delivered a masterly discourse full of sound advice to the young men for whom it was specially intended. His language was forceful, his illustrations apt, and the sermon was a treat to his hearers.

Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, Dr. F. V. N. Pater, of Salem, made the annual address before the Young Men's Christian Association of the Institute.

Dr. Pater more than sustained his reputation as a scholar and orator, and made a profound impression on those who heard him.

Literary Society Celebration.
Saturday evening at 8 o'clock the Maury Literary Society of the institute had its final celebration in the auditorium. Mr. J. W. C. Catlett, president of the society, presided and introduced the several speakers, who handled their subjects well and were heartily applauded by the large audience. The judges, Professors E. A. Smyth, C. E. Vawter and C. M. Newman, decided that Mr. O. M. Bishop had won the declaimers' medal; Mr. F. W. Jones, the orators'; and that Mr. G. L. Watkins had excelled his opponent, Mr. R. P. A. Johnson, in the debate on the question, "Resolved, That the United States Should Enact Stricter Immigration Laws." Professor Smyth presented the medals in a well chosen speech.

ALUMNI DAY AT V. M. I.
This is to be one of the features of the commencement at the V. M. I. this year, as it has been for several years past. The celebration will occur on Tuesday, June 23d. A committee of alumni has sent out letters urging a full attendance of former students. The committee consists of Greenlee D. Letcher, chairman, Lexington, Va.; E. W. Nichols, E. M. Pennington, N. E. Tucker, S. B. Walker, J. B. B. Morgan, W. C. Shields, L. H. Saunders, J. H. Campbell and others.

The official program for final week is as follows: Friday, June 19th—8:30 P. M., opening hop.

Saturday, June 20th—6:30 P. M., battalion inspection, preceded by review; 9 P. M., gymnasium exhibition.

Sunday, June 21st—9 A. M., guard mounting; 11 A. M., religious exercises conducted by Rev. A. S. Lloyd, general secretary of the Foreign Domestic Missionary Society of the Episcopal Church.

Monday, June 22d—9 A. M., guard mounting; 9:30 A. M., Butt's Manual; 10:30 A. M., salute to board of visitors; 11:30 A. M., bayonet exercise; 1 P. M., signaling with heliograph and flags, and first aid to wounded drill and advance and rear-guard drill; 6 P. M., review before board of visitors, followed by battalion drill; 10 P. M., final german.

Tuesday, June 23d—9 A. M., guard mounting; 9:30 A. M., morning parade, preceded by escort of colors; 10 A. M., battalion drill, sham battle; 4 P. M., Butt's Manual; 6 P. M., review before alumni, followed by battalion parade, "Graduation Parade"; 10 P. M., alumni smoker and society hop.

Wednesday, June 24th—9 A. M., guard mounting; 11 A. M., graduating exercises, prayer, announcement of distinctions, valedictory address by Cadet A. E. DeVault, of Tennessee; delivery of diplomas and addresses by Major-General Franklin Bell, chief of staff, U. S. A.; delivery of Jackson-Hope medals by Governor Claude A. Swanson; publication of promotions and appointments in battalion of cadets; "Auld Lang Syne"; 10 P. M., final ball.

Appeal Allowed.
An appeal and superaddition has been allowed by the court in the case of Owens against Owens, from the Chancery Court of the city of Richmond. The litigation is over the right of the late John Owens, who settled in estate of the late John O. Owens.

QUIET AGAIN AT HAMPDEN-SIDNEY

Agitation Over Removal Has Been Settled and Friends of College Will Get to Work.

HAMPDEN-SIDNEY COLLEGE, VA., June 15.—Matters here have now assumed their usual quiet, following the close of the session, more marked on this occasion than ever before by reason of the feverish condition of things attendant on his commencement, when the fate of the college hung in the balance. Notwithstanding the restlessness and apprehension, the program went off without any material hitch, but there was a tenseness which pervaded the whole place. It is due to the students to say that, although they were opposed as a man to the removal question and had filed a vigorous protest in the shape of resolutions which had been sent to each member of the board, they held themselves in and behaved with the utmost decorum. They sent a committee before the board to present their side of the case, and this committee was given an attentive hearing.

The called meeting of the alumni held on Monday, while also opposed as a man to the removal, kept itself well in hand, but passed firm resolutions disapproving of removal and appointed a committee consisting of A. B. Dickinson and Hon. E. P. Cox, of Richmond, and Rev. H. Tucker Graham, of Farmville, to go before the board in their behalf.

It is proper to call attention to the error which has appeared in the press stating that the plan of removal to Lexington and consolidating with Washington and Lee was only defeated by a small vote.

Your correspondent has spoken with at least three of the members of the board, who tell him that this plan had only seven advocates among the twenty-two members of the board present, and that the rest were opposed. The vote, therefore, was more than two to one against this plan. On a motion to appoint a committee to look into the general question of removal, this was also defeated by a small majority. It may be said, therefore, that this vexed question has been finally laid at rest, the board having taken definite action thereon for the first time.

Great good will doubtless flow from this action, after all for the alumni and friends of the college are more stirred up and more interested in doing something for this institution than ever before. A number of movements are already on foot looking to the increase of its endowment and to prove that there is nothing in the contention of the advocates of the plan of removal that money cannot be raised for the college in its present location.

It has not been learned here whether Dr. McFadden will accept the position of president or not. General satisfaction is felt here in this election.

Dr. McFadden is making ready to leave within a short time. His plans for the future have not been made public.
